Editorial Decision

The Handling Editor will prepare final report based on both his and the reviewer’s comments about the manuscript and will convey a final remark to the Editor-in-chief. Based on his report and remark Editor-in-chief will make final decision about your manuscript like

- Accept or Major Revision or Minor Revision or Reject

- Accepted manuscript will go to the publication after final editing and proof reading.
- Manuscript with major or minor revision needs to be resubmitted as a Revised manuscript after being revised as per reviewers comments and will undergo same review process.
- Rejected manuscripts should not be submitted again to the same journal.
